This is a title

1 This is normal text. There should probably be some[†] footnotes, since this is a test of footnotes. Distinctio ut quis et optio. Natus nobis quas aperiam et. Accusantium consequatur occaecati optio est eum. Enim quam perspiciatis eveniet. Est ut ratione nesciunt quo excepturi cum nemo quia. Ut ut repellendus officiis. Et voluptas temporibus rerum omnis commodi consequatur reprehenderit. Quam nostrum perspiciatis tenetur. Doloremque sed aut minus saepe. Et ea et aliquid quis eaque similique. Asperiores qui reiciendis aut porro earum tenetur. Enim aut eligendi magni in aut sunt. Incidunt quasi similique ex iste quia sint dolor quod. In eius iste blanditiis impedit qui rem repellendus eos. Mollitia delectus qui ad asperiores provident. Qui doloribus dicta maiores autem. Et necessitatibus quaerat voluptates. Saepe ut nemo quia praesentium asperiores molestias impedit. Voluptatum et velit qui nemo sint alias.

And that was a new parargaph.[‡]

[2] Here in verse two we check[a] some endnotes.[b]

---

[a] :2 Acts 17:11   [b] Rev 20:14

The first end-note[c] was placed above here.

[†] Needless   [‡] 1:1 This is a footnote quoting something <<hello>> goodbye
[c] But not the last

This is a title

1 This is normal text.

That was a new parargaph.§ It should be OK. ² We'll have another note here‖ It should be OK. ³ We'll yet have another note here# If we remove the spaces after fq and ft then it won't be OK.

---

§ 1:1 This is a footnote quoting something hello goodbye

‖ 1:1 This is a footnote quoting something, this time with speach marks <<hello>> goodbye

1:1 This is a yet footnote quoting something <<hello>> goodbye

This is a title

1 This is normal text. Dolorem ad ducimus quia ducimus minima aperiam ab saepe qui deserunt qui et quod laboriosam ab et fugiat sed cum numquam sequi a ullam tempore fugiat non necessitatibus

² In this verse, to be precise, > < is an image (cr). I didn't put a paragraph break after the pic. I wonder what happens.

³ New para. Reiciendis voluptatem ut qui ex officiis. Qui a qui omnis inventore nostrum quo doloribus. nihil vel cumque illum vel tenetur corrupti assumenda at qui quia officia est earum molestias totam dolores est commodi nostrum vero et assumenda sit delectus omnis voluptas soluta consectetur neque voluptatem distinctio

This rose is set hc, just before verse 5 starts (1:5)

⁴ Et sed nemo sapiente quaerat necessitatibus. Enim illum id enim cumque expedita iure. Quis vitae tempora aliquid sint quisquam facilis voluptatum cupiditate. ⁵ Autem nesciunt cumque odit esse et eum eum sunt. Voluptatum laboriosam qui facere. Voluptas unde in adipisci. Pariatur eos animi dolorem tempora eos temporibus. Odio autem maiores ea. ⁶ Impedit porro similique quia ullam ut. Error accusamus nisi minus. Cupiditate sapiente reprehenderit delectus velit. Eos distinctio praesentium cumque alias quia eum. ⁷ Voluptate quia dolor aut nihil incidunt corporis. Molestiae ut dolorem est ratione suscipit quaerat.

Error cupiditate id quia eveniet. Porro est dolores aperiam nisi id libero similique quis.

This is a rose, not a fig (1:1)

Testing WJ, BD and footnotes in WJ

This is a title

1 This text has some wj marked text.†
² Here in verse two, we are all normal text (including the verse number?)

³ And that was a p class paragraph break, and this should be bold. ⁴ The verse number ought to be normal, non-bold.

---

† 1:1 This is a footnote called from wj text <<hello>> goodbye

Second Testing WJ, BD and footnotes in WJ

This is a title

1 This text‡ has some wj marked text.§ ² Here in verse two, we are all normal text (including the verse number?)

³ And that was a p class paragraph break, and this should be bold. ⁴ The verse number ought to be normal, non-bold.

---

‡ Very similar to the other test   § 1:1 This is a footnote called from wj text <<hello>> goodbye

873.49959pt

The back

381.10078pt

The Test-Case Bible

The

Test-case

Bible

331.10078pt

9 780123 456892

0 copies, Klingon-Esperanto